

A photograph of a suburban street intersection. In the foreground, a grey asphalt road curves from the bottom left towards the center. A red dotted line starts from the bottom left, crosses the road, and continues across a grassy area towards a manhole cover. Two red arrows point to this line: one from a text box above and one from a text box below. The background features a white commercial building with a red awning, several parked cars, and large trees with green foliage. The sky is overcast.

Manhole where 15"
sewer line cuts
across Town and Country Blvd and
onto subject site

projection of underground sewer line